Neighbor Finds Body This Morning; Suc- cumbed to Heart Attack Friday Evening.

With his evening meal on the table, ready to be eaten, Henry Kump, native and life-long resident of Franklin township, stepped outside his home where he lived alone Friday evening, suffered a heart attack and died.

The body lay about 50 feet from the door of the house in a small gutter, filled with water, and it was thought that he had drowned, but Dr. E. A. Miller, of Gettysburg, Adams county coroner, who was summoned, said death was due to a heart attack.

The body was discovered this morning at 8 o'clock, by Mrs. John Carrers, a neighbor, who was passing, who notified neighbors and the coroner. There was no sign of foul play on the body.

Mr. Kump, a bachelor, lived alone. He had prepared supper, Friday evening, and had the food dished up and on the table, ready to be eaten, when he stepped outside for some undetermined reason. Nothing was disturbed in the house.

Mr. Kump, who was 77 years old, was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kump, of Franklin township, and is survived by three brothers, Charles and Jacob Kump, Mt. Hope, and Peter Kump, Franklin township.

She was the daughter of the late Amos and Hannah Little, of Huntington township, and lived in that section her entire life. She was a member of the United Brethren church, of Idaville.

Surviving her are the following children: Mrs. Clara Goehner, Gettysburg; Mrs. Norman Hoffman and Amos Group, both of Idaville; Mrs. Henderson Sigler, Hummelstown, and Mrs. Earl Winand, Lehigh. Eighteen grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren also survive.

School children of Willsboro, New York, are going to be a lot better versed in the historical significance of Gettysburg and Lincoln's memorable address here than a lot of other towns.

Robert C. Geiselman is supervising principal of the Willsboro High School. He is a graduate of Gettysburg High and College and is a son of Mrs. Sadie Geiselman, 414 East Middle street. A copy of the "Tatler," his high school paper, just received by The Gettysburg Times, tells of observance by the school of the anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address Friday. The address was given by a pupil and patriotic songs were sung. And Professor Geiselman told the school something about Gettysburg.

At a special election held November 9, the taxpayers of Willsboro voted almost unanimously to erect a new high school building at a cost of $150,000, nearly half again as much as the cost of Gettysburg's. Professor Geiselman has nine teachers and an enrollment of 247 pupils.

HAVE YOU JOINED THE RED CROSS? If not, send your dollar now to the Adams County Chapter, American Red Cross, Court House, Gettysburg, Pa. The campaign is progressing nicely. Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, county chairman, states, with a canvass of town and county in progress, but a lot of people who were members before have not yet signed up. With women of good judgment and common sense like Mrs. Lewars, and the executive officers of the county chapter, in charge of disbursements of the funds contributed by members, you can rest assured that the money you contribute to this worthy charity will be well and wisely distributed. About $200 was raised for the chapter at the annual Red Cross rummage sale.

Mrs. R. M. Dunkelberger, daughter of Doctor Aberly, head of the seminary here, is just as popular as a public speaker and entertainer as her husband who has made a number of interesting addresses before local audiences.

Mrs. Dunkelberger, who, with her husband, is on a furlough to this country after 10 years missionary work in India, addressed 250 delegates and a large number of visitors who attended the York county conference of the Women's Missionary Society of the West Pennsylvania Synod, Lutheran church, in Christ church, Dallastown, Thursday. She gave a description of life, customs of the natives and the work of missionaries in India. She wore a purple costume, the gift to her by a native woman of India.

Between preaching the gospel, broadcasting the advantages of Gettysburg College and endeavoring to raise the standards of athletics among all colleges, Doctor Hanson finds time occasionally to officiate at the marriage of former parishioners of Messiah Lutheran church at Harrisburg of which he was pastor 13 years before coming to Gettysburg to head the institution here three years ago.

He officiated Friday at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel in Philadelphia at the wedding of Miss Louise Eloise Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayne Woods, Germantown, formerly of Harrisburg, and Robert Lynn Mickey, of Philadelphia. Mr. Mickey, a graduate of Dickinson College and a member of the S. A. E. fraternity, is also connected with the Ben Franklin Hotel, of which his bride's father is assistant manager. Mr. Woods was formerly with the Penn Harris Hotel at Harrisburg.

Burgess Heiges might imitate the action of Mayor Kendrick, of Philadelphia, and ask the renewal or removal of stained or torn flags through Gettysburg.

Not only the sense of respect that should be felt for the national colors should prompt the display of a flag to take it in when it has become unsightly or been whipped into ribbons by the wind, but it would be thought the owner would discover a reflection

FATHERS-SONS ATTEND BANQUET

Dr. Harvey D. Hoover Makes Principal Address Before Gathering at St. James.

"Lincoln was not particularly gifted to any significant degree in any one line of endeavor, but he possessed those characteristics and inherent qualities that make for greatness—honesty, deep religious convictions and temperance."

The Rev. Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, member of the seminary faculty, spoke these words at the annual Father and Sons' banquet at St. James Lutheran church, Friday evening, to impress upon his hearers, young and old, that "true greatness in a man often is found in qualities deeply rooted and not always apparent."

Doctor Hoover urged the sons to be patient with their fathers, especially when it might be easy to find fault with them.

Using the Biblical background of the life of Caleb, the speaker said a "truly great man is he who works on and on whether or not he is recognized and rewarded for his services." Often, the seminary professor added, the men who are singled out for recognition, or election to office, are the "really small-calibered men in a community."

Doctor Hoover, a native Adams county and former president of Carthage College, Carthage, Illinois, praised the Father and Son movement, expressing the hope that mutual betterment for fathers and sons would accrue from such contact.

The Rev. Earl J. Bowman, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, officiated at the banquet. The invocation was given by E. P. Miller, York street, and short talks were delivered by George P. Black, superintendent of the Sunday School, and I. Willis Appler, president of the Men's Brotherhood. The banquet, staged under the joint auspices of the Sunday School and Brotherhood, was prepared and served by women of the Mite Society. A roast beef dinner was served.

During the World War, Mr. Scott was stationed at the United States naval training station, Newport, Rhode Island. The newly-weds will reside in Trenton.

VETERANS GUESTS OF LOCAL CAMP

Mooted Question of Lincoln's Horse Is Settled by Auditor of Famous Address.

Personal reminiscences of President Lincoln's visit to Gettysburg and interesting details of the dedication of the national cemetery here where the martyred president spoke his immortal address were recounted by three speakers at a reception given by the Gettysburg camp, 112, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, in honor of members of Corporal Skelly post, Grand Army of the Republic, at the post room, East Middle street, Friday evening.

The reception was a fitting sequel to the exercises in the afternoon at which a plaque was unveiled at the former Wills house, Center Square, designating that building as the one which sheltered Lincoln the night of November 18, 1863.

Dr. P. M. Bikle, dean of Gettysburg College; J. D. Hemminger, of Carlisle, and Clayton White, of Williamsport, who as young men heard Lincoln speak his now famous dedicatory address, told in interesting manner the story of that memorable occasion. Many of the incidents they were related were new to many of the audience.

One incident, as told by Mr. White, related that Lincoln did not ride an undersized horse from the Wills home to the cemetery, but was astride a larger charger, furnished by a Captain Wood of the hospital corps which was stationed here at the time.

Dr. Bikle gave an interesting resume of the incidents of November 19, 1863, as they applied to the students at college. He told how the students, among them himself, secured places directly in front of the platform from which Lincoln spoke, after having been given a rear position in the parade.

William L. Meals was master of ceremonies at the affair, which was attended by 50 persons. After the speaking refreshments were served.

A quartet, comprising the Rev. M. E. Ness, I. L. Taylor, A. E. Hutchison and R. W. Wentz, sang a number of selections; Rev. Mr. Ness sang several vocal selections; Fred Pfeffer and Sterling Bollinger entertained with instrumental numbers; readings were given by Dr. Frank H. Kramer and Mr. Pfeffer and several short talks were given, among them one by D. C. Jacobs, Arendtsville. Mrs. L. C. Keefeauver was the accompanist for the various musical numbers.

L. C. Keefeauver was master of ceremonies. Preston W. Hull is commander of the local Knights Templar. After the program, refreshments were served.

SCOUTS RETURN FROM SESQUI TRIP

Ten Boys Under Scoutmaster Bream Saw Sights of Exposition During Week.

"Dead" tired but supremely happy, ten Gettysburg Boy Scouts, accompanied by their scoutmaster, Clyde L. Bream, Carlisle street, returned to Gettysburg late Friday night, after spending a week in Philadelphia.

"We saw everything there was to be seen in and around Philadelphia," Scoutmaster Bream said today, adding that everyone with whom the scouts came in contact "went out of their way" to make their visit pleasant.

The trip was made in a motor truck which Troop 3 now owns and no serious accident occurred to mar the trip, although a slight collision damaged a tire and fender.

Department stores, the navy yard, the Sesquiennial, Independence Hall, the zoo and the grave of Benjamin Franklin were among the places of interest visited in Philadelphia, with side trips to Camden and Atlantic City, New Jersey.

At 4 o'clock, Friday afternoon, Mr. Bream spoke 10 minutes over radio station WFI, Philadelphia. He gave a resume of the battle of Gettysburg, told of the laying out and dedication of the National cemetery and of President Lincoln's visit here, closing by reading Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The scouts who made the trip were Myrl Weikert, Junior Hartman, William Zeigler, Raymond Sheely, David Stoner, Howard Warren, George Bushman, David Reaser, John Ridinger and Edward Klinefelter.

ORPHANAGE BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

Combined Boards of Hoffman School Meet at Hanover; Vacancies Are Filled.

The annual fall meeting of the combined executive boards of the Hoffman Orphanage, near Littlestown, was held Thursday in the Richard McAllister hotel, Hanover, instead of at the orphanage as has been planned. The change was made because of weather conditions. The business sessions were featured by the election of officers, both of the board and of the women's auxiliary.

Two of the officers of the board declined to serve for another term, the Rev. Dr. Abner S. DeChant, who had been its president for a number of years, succeeding the Rev. Dr. Thomas J. Barkley, Gettysburg, and the Rev. Dr. F. S. Lindaman, Littlestown, vice president of the board since its organization, both of whom consider that they are physically unable to serve in their former positions. The officers of the board elected are: President, William H. Fisher, Chambersburg; vice president, the Rev. Dr. M. J. Roth, Hanover; secretary, John L. Gerber, York, and treasurer, the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Stein, York. The latter two offices were filled by reelection.

CHURCH BREACH BROUGHT BEFORE SYNODICAL BODY

Rupture in Greencastle Lutheran Congregation Discussed by Executive Committee.

Called to formulate a policy with respect to the status of a group of dissenters from the Greencastle Lutheran church, the executive committee of the West Pennsylvania synod held an important meeting here Friday, but little information as to what went on behind the closed doors was made available.

It was stated afterward, however, that the policy of the executive committee has not yet been formulated, but that the matter had been thoroughly gone over so that the committee would have all available information before it before handing down a ruling. The policy of the executive committee will be final and binding, it was stated, unless the synod, in convention next October, chooses to overrule the committee.

The Greencastle matter came under synodical scrutiny two weeks ago, when the group of thirty-three members, who have broken away from the established Lutheran church there, invited Dr. Milton Valentine, of Gettysburg, to preach.

Refused To Preach

The Rev. H. B. Burkholder, pastor of the Greencastle Lutheran church, notified the Rev. G. E. Bowersox, Shrewsbury, president of the West Pennsylvania synod, of the invitation extended to Dr. Valentine to speak before the dissenting group, which designated itself Trinity Lutheran.

Dr. Valentine was notified by the Rev. Mr. Bowersox that since the Trinity Lutheran group had not been officially recognized by the church governing body, he should not preach before it. The Gettysburg College professor refused to preach to the dissenting group, and services for Sunday, November 7, were called off.

Last Sunday, however, the services of a retired Mennonite pastor in Greencastle were secured and services held in a theatre there.

Annex Caused Trouble

Differences of opinion among members of the established Lutheran church in Greencastle over a proposed extension to the present church building is said to have led to the division in the membership. The dissenters, it was stated, were opposed to the improvement, and drifted away to form an independent Lutheran group, designating itself as Trinity Lutheran church.

Notices to appear before the executive committee here Friday were sent to both the established Lutheran church and representatives of the group which broke away from the parent congregation, but no representatives of the latter body appeared. The Rev. Mr. Burkholder and two members of the church council appeared and outlined the cause of the rupture as they saw it.

The Rev. Mr. Bowersox, president of the executive committee, presided at the meeting, which was attended by the Rev. S. L. Hench, Dallastown, secretary; the Rev. E. C. Ruby, York, treasurer; the Rev. Earl J. Bowman, pastor of St. James' Lutheran church here; I. L. Taylor, Gettysburg; the Rev. M. R. Hampshire, Mechanicsburg, and Dr. G. E. Holtzapple, York.

Schaeffer, Hanover; vice president, Mrs. William H. Fisher, Chambersburg; secretary, Mrs. Jesse Anders, Frederick, Maryland, and treasurer, Mrs. Castle, Westminster, Maryland. Mrs. Schaeffer, formerly vice president of the auxiliary, was elected to the office left vacant by the death of Mrs. J. L. Butt, of Gettysburg. The secretary and treasurer were re-elected.

The superintendent and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Sidney S. Smith, and Mrs. Carbaugh, the matron, attended the meeting. Twenty-five persons were present, 13 being members of the auxiliary.

One of the main considerations before the joint boards at this meeting was the necessity of urging large Christmas offerings in the various congregations to supply the needs of the home, as it estimated that $25,000 will be required to carry on the work there during the coming year. Most of this money is secured annually through the Christmas offerings. It was reported that one half mile of the concrete road to the orphanage has been completed and that the high power electric line has been extended to the home. The auxiliary reported having furnished the main room of the executive building.

OHIO TO VOTE ON PRIMARY

All legal obstacles to a referendum on the direct primary in Ohio have been removed, and the people of that state will vote on a proposal to repeal the clause in the state constitution requiring political parties to nominate by that system. Participation in the primaries in Ohio has fallen to a low ebb.

RENTS DECLINE 6 PER CENT

Rents the country over have declined steadily for two years and in August, 1926, were six per cent lower than in July, 1924, the peak month. There has been a decrease of two per cent since August, 1925, and of one per cent since January, 1926.

Blocher Jewelry Store, One of Largest and Most Modernly Equipped in State is Ready to Entertain Hosts of Christmas Shoppers; Large Gift Display.

David Blocher, One of Youngest Business Men in This Section of Pennsylvania, Enjoys Friendship and Respect of His Associates; Business Was Established in 1887 by Father; Growth Founded on Honesty and Fairness to All.

Gettysburg and Adams county boast of a number of achievements, model developments, historic values and innumerable other "victories." Victories, not in the sense of warfare, but in the commercial and industrial field. Thus from these various vantage points Gettysburg's fame has spread to the four corners of the globe.

In a community, so striving as Gettysburg, a number of smaller achievements are necessary to cement these developments, in order that the community might hold a worth while place on the ladder of progress with its own residents.

Blocher's jewelry store offers just such an enterprise. In 1887 Charles A. Blocher, deceased, opened a jewelry store in the location now housing the same business, conducted by his son, David Blocher. At the time of the opening of the store, the depth of the room was only 8 feet, to some a comparatively small store for a jeweler. But this sufficed for the business at hand in this section at that time, some 39 years ago.

Energetic and Honest

honest business, C. A. Blocher soon established himself with the buying product of Gettysburg and Adams county and gradually his business increased. He became famous for his workmanship, his honesty and his dependability. It cemented the jewelry business of this district and the Blocher jewelry store was known to almost every purchaser or prospective buyer in this district.

In time the store was enlarged. More room was required to handle the steadily increasing business. A large stock was installed, but the same conscientious application to business was maintained by the late Mr. Blocher. Born and reared in Adams county, Mr. Blocher was aware of the needs of his customers, of their peculiarities and their characteristics. This served him in good stead and coupled with his "fairness to all" helped considerably to enlarge his establishment.

Business in those days consisted mainly of repair work. Today this same feature of the Blocher jewelry store remains one of its outstanding characteristics.

Years of constant application to the business at hand brought about several changes in the store—looking toward continued growth. Several years ago the proprietor suffered a stroke of paralysis that proved fatal February 13, 1923.

Son Assumes Management

In 1921 David Blocher, who had just graduated from Gettysburg College, entered the store as an active partner. Prior to that time he served in many capacities with his father and practically "grew up" with the business. At the time of his father's death, David was in fair shape to continue the business, acquiring sole control at the time of his mother's death a short time ago.

With the new proprietor, times had changed, business had increased considerably and measuring the same qualities of standard as did his father, David foresaw the necessity of a larger and more modern establishment. This was put into effect a year ago with the enlargement and complete remodeling of the interior and the addition of a gift department.

The gift department comprises those beautiful things such as Oriental ware, china, pottery and a great assortment of other useful things so pleasing to receive. The gift department is filled with many excellent Christmas suggestions.

At this writing the new proprietor has completed preparations for the holiday season. A new and larger Christmas stock awaits prospective buyers. "This is the largest Christmas stock we ever had," said Mr. Blocher after he had placed his Christmas gifts on display.

The store presents one of the most modernly equipped in Pennsylvania. It compares on a smaller scale with jewelry stores of larger cities and is considered one of the most adequately furnished in the state.

David Blocher, the present proprietor, is one of the youngest business men in Adams county and he enjoys the friendship and respect of his fellow associates.

William F. Weaver, watchmaker, is his oldest employe, having been associated with the business for 29 years. A. S. Kaufman, another watchmaker, has also been with the business for a number of years. Both are rated high in their art. Charles E. Weaver, clock repair man, has been with the business for seven years. The photograph below shows the interior of the Blocher Jewelry store.

FINDS MOTOR CAR CASH SALES HUGE

Analysis Shows New Yorkers Use Installment Plan More Than Westerners.

Nearly half of the purchasers of Dodge Brothers cars pay cash, according to R. P. Fohey, treasurer of Dodge Brothers, Inc., after a statistical study of practically 40,000 recent sales made by dealers throughout the United States and Canada.

"To get an average of the prevalence of installment buying," said Mr. Fohey, "we took 39,095 sales of new cars made by our dealers over a period of several weeks and analyzed them. We found that 17,629, or 45.1 per cent of the buyers, laid down the full amount when they took delivery of their cars and trucks.

"No exact figures are available for the industry as a whole, but the commonly accepted estimate is that only 20 per cent of motor car buyers pay in full at time of delivery. For this reason I think the result of our analysis will surprise a good many people, particularly bankers."

In not a single district throughout the United States and Canada did the amount of cash transactions fall below 23 per cent and in some districts cash sales amounted to more than 65 per cent of the dealers' total business.

Installment buying was found to be more prevalent in the New York district with its large urban population, than in the Omaha district which includes much small town and rural territory. The average of cash sales reported by Canadian dealers was 41 per cent, about 6 per cent higher than the figure for the United States.

"The conservative policy of Dodge Brothers dealers requiring a large down payment and not more than twelve monthly installments has contributed to sound expansion of its business," said Mr. Fohey. "Dealers' total sales have in the first nine months of this year increased 41.5 per cent over the same period last year. True enough, if easier terms were permitted this increase in sales might have been larger. But the risks involved in a too-loose credit policy are not worth taking.

"All of our studies indicate that properly safeguarded installment selling has a real place in the automotive industry," continued Mr. Fohey. "Our cars are today utilized by owners to such an extent in their business and have become so essential that the employment of conservative credit extension by dealers is both constructive and fundamentally sound."

ALL NASH MODELS NOW FITTED WITH 7-BEARING MOTOR

Smoothness and Quietness of Crankshaft Power Flow Gain Widespread Popularity.

The new smoothness and quietness in performance qualities which are gaining widespread popularity for all the new Nash models have been made possible by the introduction in all Nash cars of the 7-bearing crankshaft.

In this connection it is noteworthy that Nash makes these crankshafts in their own plants. Thirty-five operations are required and the closest limits of precision are rigidly adhered to, a degree of accuracy which gives them their 'machine tool' perfection.

This engine design reduces distortion in motor action to the very minimum by holding the crankshaft rigid throughout its entire length. Seven bearings are the maximum number of bearings it is practical or even possible to use on a six-cylinder motor crankshaft. This makes certain that the crankshaft is supported at every necessary point—not merely on the ends or at one or two places in the middle—but by sturdy main bearings.

This principle counteracts the constant downward motion in the pistons and connecting rods, a motion incident to every power-stroke, and produces a resulting smoothness which is characteristic only of the 7-bearing type of construction.

For it is the crankshaft which receives the pressure exerted on the pistons and transmits the power through the propeller shaft and the rear axle to the rear wheels which propel the car.

Absolute smoothness and quietness cannot therefore be achieved unless this power which leaves the crankshaft and goes to the flywheel and other driving members is absolutely smooth and noiseless.

Naturally enough, with six connecting rods ramming down on the crankshaft with ceaseless vigor, such forces would tend to cause deflection of the shaft. Deflection would in turn result in noisy operation and roughness.

Consequently, instead of trying to forestall noisy deflections through some other means, Nash engineers

WHIPPET MAKES 38 MILES ON GAL.

5,205 Drivers Establish Record In Nation-Wide Economy Tests.

Thirty-eight and six-tenths miles to the gallon of gasoline is the economy record established by 5,205 Overland Whippet drivers during "Whippet test week" staged recently by Willys-Overland dealers throughout the nation to demonstrate the efficiency, economy, power, speed and stamina of this light 4-cylinder car.

This unequaled fuel economy record of 38.6 miles for such a number of cars is the result of "drive it yourself" experiments which were open to the world. Each car used in this test was a stock car taken from the dealer's showroom with no special equipment added except a small temporary tank to hold the limited supply of fuel. Before each test was made the fuel tank was sealed and the driver went as far as he could. In several instances more than 50 miles to the gallon was secured.

This nation-wide test was decided upon by Willys-Overland officials to demonstrate that the 30 miles to a gallon claimed by the manufacturers of the Whippet was one that would hold, regardless of who was driving the car or the geographical location of the test.

The computation is the result of reports made to the Willys-Overland officials at Toledo, Ohio, and it is believed, since these reports represent every section of the country, that the average already computed will show no variation when all the returns are received.

From the rockbound coast of Maine to the sunny Pacific slopes, from the northern border to the Gulf of Mexico these tests made by volunteer drivers showed the same results—30 miles and more to the gallon of gasoline.

During this series of tests the power of the Whippet also was subjected to conditions never met in the life of one in a thousand motor cars. From a standing start the Whippet demonstrated that it could easily tow loaded trucks up to 20,000 pounds without an effort and without a strain on the motor. In various sections of the country this test was made on slippery highways but the Whippet stepped right off with its tremendous load.

Various runs were made during the tests to try the speed of the Whippet and the results have upheld the reputation of the car as one able to meet any emergency where speed and stability are required. The ranges with the throttle wide open were, in some cases, over 60 miles an hour, unheard of heretofore in the American 4-cylinder light car field. These speed tests included straightaway and hill routes.

Thousands took part in these nation-wide tests which merely emphasized again that the Whippet stands supreme in the 4-cylinder field, capable of outperforming many light 6-cylinder cars.

Man is afloat upon a marvelous sea of opportunity, and the craft that he attracts to his side will be determined by the signals he hoists.

CANNON BALL HAS MADE NEW RECORD

Baker Accomplishes Cross-Continental Feat Which Never Before Has Been Achieved.

Indianapolis' fastest citizen, speaking in miles per hour, is Cannon Ball Baker. And to be the fastest citizen in the home of the International Sweepstakes Automobile races requires an intrepid spirit and a tungsten nervous system. It also requires frequent breakings of records.

Judge from the following whether the title "fastest citizen" has been discreetly employed. On September 15, Mr. Baker, in a Ford Roadster, presented himself before Mayor Dorsey, of Perth Amboy, New Jersey, who obligingly sealed the Ford in high gear. Cannon Ball previously removed the low and reverse gears from the transmission. On September 20, five days, two hours, and thirteen minutes later, he checked in at the Western Union telegraph office at Los Angeles, having driven 3,306 miles without relief at the wheel.

Eleven days, four and three-quarters hours were thereby clipped from the best previous time for an "all-high-gear" transcontinental run (previously held by a six-cylinder car). Two days, thirteen and three-quarters hours were removed from the best coast-to-coast time ever made by one driver, unrelieved; while even the motorcycle record for the same run was beaten by sixteen hours. In other words the trip constitutes the fastest time ever made across the continent by one man in any kind of road vehicle. The daily average was more than 648 miles and the fuel cost over the entire trip was one and one-tenth cents a mile.

One can imagine the annoyance at the inevitable road delays on a trip of such length, whose chief object is haste. Almost at the start, when the Pennsylvania state line was crossed, forty minutes were devoted to checking headlight focus by very deliberate state troopers.

Straight through to Indianapolis drove Mr. Baker, a distance of 756 miles, made in twenty-three hours and thirty-six minutes. Here he had supper and a long rest—one hour—before starting west again.

The next stop was at St. Louis. Here an hour was expended on breakfast, "sleep," and seeking the right road out of town.

Thus the log runs on over the entire journey. Just beyond St. Louis the car overtook a herd of heifers on a hill, necessitating slowing to almost a walk, and worming through the herd—with only high gear to go on. A sand storm in the same state, carrying clouds of sand on a fifty-mile head wind, had to be drilled through.

Avon Pass, 6,000 feet up, was crossed. A small Texan stream was forded at flood, but another stream between Tucumcari and Santa Rosa, too full to ford, necessitated a detour of 100 miles through Las Vegas, Santa Fe and Albuquerque, where a freight train took toll of twenty minutes.

Glorietta Grade, a 7,000-foot elevation, and later, Blue Canyon Pass were left behind. Then a day and a half of racing until Needles, Arizona, was reached.

THE SWEETLAND

When Turkey's Too High

You'll Enjoy this Combination

Have Thanksgiving dinner at home! It's a fine old American custom and the most expensive dinner "eaten out" never tastes as good as your own home cooking on Thanksgiving Day. Don't let the cost of turkey discourage you. A fine big roast stuffed chicken can be made just as good. Try this Southern way of cooking it.

Roast Chicken with chestnut stuffing and candied sweet potatoes

Clean and prepare chicken as usual. Stuff with the following dressing and sew up:
3 cups French chestnuts ¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup butter ¼ cup cream
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cracker crumbs

Shell and blanch chestnuts; cook in boiling salted water till soft; drain and mash, using potato ricer. (This can be done the day before.) Add one-half the butter, salt, pepper and cream. Melt remaining butter, mix with cracker crumbs and combine mixtures.

When stuffed, dredge chicken with flour and seasonings and place in very hot oven for 30 minutes; reduce heat to moderate and finish baking, allowing 20 minutes to the pound. During last half-hour of baking, arrange around chicken 6 sweet potatoes parboiled, pared and cut in half lengthwise. Spread potatoes with thick syrup made of ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup butter or oil, 1 cup hot water. Baste potatoes frequently with this syrup.

Cuts Gas Bills in Half

Low first cost is only part of your saving on an Overland Whippet.

Its outstanding economy of 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline . . . well over 1,000 miles on a gallon of oil . . . with the smallest tax rating of any car in America today cuts present operating costs just about in half. And doubles the value for every dollar you now spend for upkeep.

In a recent economy driving test in Chicago 1308 contestants averaged 31.8 miles per gallon . . . the winner averaged 47.2 miles per gallon. And scores of Whippets were sold as the result of this demonstration.

In fairness to yourself, think of economy before buying any light car today.

Other Whippet prices are: Coupe, $865; Touring, $845; prices f.o.b. factory. Prices and specifications subject to change without notice. The Willys Finance Plan offers unusually attractive credit terms. Willys-Overland, Inc., Toledo, Ohio.

EPCO GAS

A Real Anti-Knock High Compression Gas

FOR MANY years mechanical engineers struggled to build automobile engines of higher compression. Meaning by that, as compression is increased the power line goes up and the fuel consumption goes down. Ordinary gasolines—especially high test—will not withstand this higher compression without knocks, clicks or detonations. Carbon which is continually forming in your motor cuts down your power, kills your pick-up and causes your motor to run with a lower spark, resulting in less mileage and an all-round loss of efficiency in your motor operation.

EPCO GAS withstands compression to a high degree. It puts carbon to work and the result is GREATER MOTOR EFFICIENCY and MORE POWER.

Do this now and then watch the results! Remember where you carried your spark advance before using EPCO. Now try fifteen or twenty gallons of EPCO GAS, on a full high spark advance, and leave it there. Please read that again—LEAVE IT THERE.

Forget about your spark from now on, for you are now using EPCO—a real Anti-Knock Gas. That high spark advance means you are getting mileage and power. You can slow down in traffic and then step on her and with EPCO in your tank, you can get away with a snap that will surprise you.

Don't change your carburetor unless you have been using high test. EPCO is not high test.

Remember—keep that spark fully advanced!

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RIDING THE TIDE

THE man who is making a great deal of money, with luck turning his way, thinks little of the chance that all may be altered in a day. And the one who is gathered up and carried away in the arms of flattery and pleasure thinks nothing of the lonely hours when the friends of fortune pass by—unacquainted in also sharing the days of disappointment and loss.

Those who ride the tide must have acclaim and notice. It is the food upon which they live.

And their fortune is the fortune of others. Only the man of character can smile at all this. He, too, may ride the tide, but he knows all too well how cheap and brief it all is. And so he garners into the store-house of his heart and soul-life all that is fine and beautiful in the world.

And how one needs this saving when those once trusted and loved prove untrue, and the dreams of years fall shattered among the silent hours, like the brown and gold leaves of autumn.

How comforting to know that when the tide of material fortune has turned, there may be someone, somewhere, who is big and strong, vital and understanding, who will take your hand and press it with a silent language that only hearts are able to translate.

But, when that someone isn't hid away in your life, what a little world, how futile all the gold and glitter.

Don't envy those who ride the tide. Smile as a spectator!

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

WHAT ALL LOVERS SHOULD KNOW

When John saw Mistress Mary's face And marked her touch of gentle grace, Something within his breast began To burn as only spirit can. "Of all the girls there are," said he, "Here is the only one for me. Here is the perfect soul divine, Nor can I rest till she is mine."

Likewise when Mary looked upon The man that I have labeled John Her fluttering heart at once began To tell her: "Here's a perfect man!" Though reason whispered: "Love is blind, He, too, has faults which you will find."

Miss Mary said: "No fault I see, He is the only man for me."

Thus these two perfect souls were wed.

Now what think you must lie ahead? Will love remain or love depart? What trifle will a difference start? For John and Mary both possess The faults of humans more or less, Of this there's not the slightest doubt, And soon the two will find it out.

It all depends on Mary's wit, And John's good nature, I submit, Love's glamor soon must disappear And faults grow plainer year by year. I give this truth for what it's worth, There are no angels on the earth. Love marries us, and when we're tied Says: "Now let reason be your guide."

Snappy Paragraphs

The Mail Carrier came in this morning feeling well and smelling fine, as the cork had come out of a bottle of mail order perfume in the mail pouch.

The magistrate at Bounding Billows, when approached this week as to his future plans, said he was like President Coolidge. He didn't know whether he would run again or not, as part of the people said he had done well while the others said he hadn't.

Ellick Helwanger has been knocking on nearly everybody that came into his mind this week. Some believe it is caused by indigestion or something hard he has been eating, as he don't know anything on anybody.

Chev. Salesmen Compete In Sales

Turkey or beans—which? Win and you feast on turkey—lose and you diet on beans.

This is the novel inspiration in the nation-wide sales contest being conducted this month within the great sales organization of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

Winners will be those who deliver the largest percentage of their November quota. In thousands of cities throughout the country, those who have won the right to dine on turkey will sit directly opposite their less fortunate bean-eating brethren.

In addition to the regional contest, every Chevrolet zone within the regions is matched against another zone and every dealer organization within the zone is matched against another dealer.

The turkey-bean banquets of the dealer organizations will be held early in December, while the assistant sales managers together with the regional and zone sales managers will eat either turkey or beans at the regional and zone sales managers' convention in Detroit about February 1.

WEEK'S WEATHER REPORT

Washington, Nov. 20.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday, Nov. 22.—North and Middle Atlantic states: Considerable cloudiness with a probability of occasional rains or snow. Temperature below normal most of the week.

Three-in-One Cent Store is a wonderful place,

With buttercup saucers and real spiders' lace,

Clothespins neatly made from bent

twigs of a tree,

And honey just fresh from Miss Busy

Bee.

Yes, indeed, this wonderful store was known to every little person in Rabbitland. Thither they hopped or flew to do their shopping, and never was any one disappointed, for the owner, Mr. White Poodle Dog, took great pains to satisfy his customers.

As the little rabbit hopped down Lettuce Avenue and turned the corner at Pumpkin Square, whom should he see a few hops ahead but Henny Jenny, the pretty little hen from the Farmyard.

"Hello," shouted the bunny boy. "Are you going to the Three-in-One Cent Store?"

"Yes, I have a basket of fresh eggs to sell," answered the little hen, with a toss of her head, on the top of which rested a bright pink comb to keep trim and neat the feathers that otherwise Billy Breeze, that mischievous little wind, would have ruffled.

"What makes you look so worried?" enquired the observant little rabbit a moment later.

"Turkey Tim has run away," answered Henny Jenny. "He always does this around Thanksgiving time. But I'm sure the Kind Farmer would not have served him for dinner. No, indeed. The Kind Farmer is too fond of him."

"Dear me," sighed the little rabbit. "I hope Danny Fox won't catch Turkey Tim."

"That's just what I'm worrying about," answered the little hen, as she tripped along the sidewalk, the little rabbit keeping step on his hop-tee-idy pattering feet and swinging his candy cane to and fro.

Just then they came to the Three-in-One Cent Store. So in they went, the little rabbit to the clothespin counter and Henny Jenny to the Grocery Department.

As soon as the bunny boy had tucked the clothespin in his pocket, Oh, so carefully, he hopped over to the counter where were displayed Dr. Quack's famous Winky Pinky Candy Pills To cure all little rabbits' ills.

"Please give me a box of 100," cried the little rabbit. "Dr. Quack asked me to get them for him. I'll leave them at his house on my way home."

"Don't eat them all before you reach Lily Pond Lake," laughed the lady salesman, a pretty little pussy cat with bobbed hair. I guess she knew how the children of Rabbitville loved Dr. Quack's famous medicine. Tasted good, like candy food, and cured them quick whenever sick! Yes, sir, Dr. Quack, the famous duck doctor, knew just what to do if any one sprained a toe or felt mighty blue. A Winky Pinky Candy Pill always did the trick, and he, consequently, was beloved by all the little furry and feathered folk in Rabbitland.

"Now I must hurry home," thought the bunny boy, as he hopped out on the street. So away he hopped, clip-perty clip, lipperty lip, just stopping for a minute to peep through the bank window to see if dear Uncle Lucky, the President of the Rabbitville Savings Bank, was in his office. But, no, that busy old gentleman rabbit was somewhere else, for his precious old wedding stovepipe hat was not on the hat tree.

"Dear me," all of a sudden exclaimed the little rabbit, remembering that Henny Jenny had just told him of Turkey Tim's plight. "I do hope poor old Tim won't have a disagreeable time in the Shady Forest. He'll, probably, get mighty lonesome all by himself," and with these thoughts, and many more too numerous to mention, on hopped the bunny boy with the clothespin for Lady Love.

By and by, after a while, and a bumpy mile, a sudden strange noise startled his long, pink-lined ears. "Oh, dear," he gasped under his breath, twinkling his pink nose to catch, if possible, the smell of Danny Fox's old fur coat. "What is that noise?" But nobody answered. No, everything was very still until, all of a sudden, again sounded that strange noise. "Oh, dear," gasped the little rabbit for the second time, "who can it be?" and he looked here and there and everywhere. But, as before, nobody appeared, and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

NEW SENSATIONStudebaker Makes New Machine to Compete With Foreign-Made Cars.For the first time in the history of European motor car development, an American-made car has been the sensation of the annual automobile show of Paris. It is the Erskine Six, product of the Studebaker factory and named after A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker corporation.This information is contained in a news dispatch from Paris and according to C. W. Epley, local distributor for Studebaker, the new Erskine Six will be on display in his show rooms here within a short time. Just at present the demand far exceeds the supply."The Erskine Six is a car of characteristic Studebaker quality," said Mr. Epley, "with a low-hung body designed by Dietrich; with a speed of 55 miles an hour; returning 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline under normal conditions; which can climb steep grades in high, and turn in a 36-foot circle without any effort.""The sedan," continued the local dealer, "is only sixty-seven and one-half inches high, but is so compact in design that it accommodates a man six feet two inches tall, in comfort.
It has a full vision steel body and is liberally equipped."The new machine will not be shown in United States until after the New York automobile show, January 8th, after which dealers will receive a portion of their requests. So far, according to Mr. Epley, the new Erskine Six has been in such great demand in this country that renewed efforts have been exerted to supply dealers throughout the country.No weapon is adequate to the needs of the man who starts out to hunt trouble.No man is a failure if he is able to learn from his misfortunes.

His Piles Gone
In Just Five Days

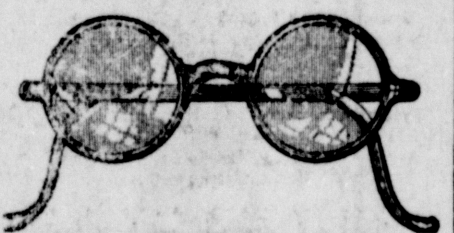

Almost A Miracle.
He Tells His Friends.

He suffered intense agony from piles for years. The itching—the burning—the terrible straining almost drove him crazy.

He went to his druggist and bought a tube of Pile-Foe because he had read an ad that guaranteed it to "end all pile distress, agony, itching and burning in 5 days or money back."

It cost him a dollar, but as he tells his friends when boosting Pile-Foe, "It was worth a thousand. It stopped all misery as if by magic. It was all O. K. in five days. It was almost a miracle how speedily they vanished."

Pile-Foe is a physician's prescription that druggists everywhere rigidly guarantee. Pile-Foe is a new discovery. Ask your druggist, if he cannot supply you send $1.00 to Cas-mith Remedy Co., Washington, D. C.—adv.

Feeling Fine
since I took
FOLEY'S PILLS

It is a glorious thing to awake with a lively, healthy, energetic body. It is miserable to drag an aching, tired, weary body from a restless, sleepless bed.

The chances are that impaired kidney and bladder action has failed to clear the blood stream of lurking poisons which cause the distressing aches.

So there is backache, rheumatic pains, weary tired feeling, dull headaches, a general discomfort, and disturbed bladder action.

Foley Pills, a diuretic stimulant for the kidneys, are a reliable valuable medicine that promotes healthy normal activity of kidneys and bladder. In constant use for over 25 years. Contains no harmful ingredient. Satisfaction guaranteed. Ask your druggist for Foley Pills.
